The number of people who have come out as a gender not assigned at birth has increased as people feel more comfortable revealing who they are. By removing additional options for gender on the application, gender nonconforming individuals will need to hide who they are from public record again. It's a journey discovering who you are, and by removing the arrival gender options, the government is ignoring a large population of individuals who finally feel comfortable in their own body. Please reconsider and keep the additional gender options on the application
