I am against and concerned by a couple things in this change:

A) Sex offenders should always have to register as sex offenders. I don't know why anyone would want to make it optional to register as a sex offender, unless they are guilty of something.

B) Passports identify a person by their appearance and gender identity. Forcing Americans to be incorrectly identified on their passports by the gender assigned at birth is going to be incorrect and cause confusion, for the sole purpose it seems of upsetting the Americans who feel misidentified by their own passports. If passports were not made to be a correct and current identification of the holder, they would not require being updated every decade.
