

Author Full Name : Hugh Davis

Received Date : 02/20/2025 10:16 AM

Comments Received :

We'd be better off removing the gender marker on the passport entirely than using it as a vector to harass people who are just trying to be their authentic selves. The marker isn't some immutable part of the document, just as one's sex at birth isn't some immutable, identity-defining fact. Either let people have the marker of their choosing or eliminate it altogether--these are the only just options.