I do not see any practical benefit to spending the taxpayer money to make this change. Furthermore, I am concerned that the field in question will be more difficult to verify — especially in the case of individuals who were born intersex and/or individuals who have received sex reassignment surgery. I am also concerned that the focus on genitalia in the definition of this field will enable sexual assault under the guise of "verifying" the field's information. Finally, I believe this form is in violation of the injunction created by Zzyym v. Blinkin.
