

Author Full Name : Matthew Lindsay

Received Date : 02/20/2025 10:23 AM

Comments Received :

Allowing individuals to tell you who they are while under penalty of perjury, as has always been the standard for passports, should include them honestly telling you their name, gender, or other personal identifiers. It helps no one if a person's passport drifts out of sync with their identity and they are prevented from correcting that.