Changing the passport to only use a person's assigned birth sex is incorrect and misleading. Many people's appearances may not match their assigned sex at birth and may not know it. Intersex people have not made any changes and continue to live their lives unaware in many cases. Trans and non-binary people should be allowed to use the sex marker that makes them happiest. There is nothing to be gained by changing this except confusing border patrol or causing undue hardship to people that don't look like or agree with their birth sex.
