

Author Full Name : Adrian SandovalReceived Date : 02/20/2025 12:41 PMComments Received :

The EO associated with this change is part of a vile disenfranchisement campaign against our transgender citizens. It has no basis in scientific evidence nor does it have any public value beyond protecting the baseless assumptions of a select minority that includes the personal interest of those in government. It was written based on personal belief and malice, disregarding current scientific evidence and without congressional oversight. The only effect this will have is to cause harm to transgender Americans by government-mandated insult. We should be creating policy that protects our citizens from harm, especially the most vulnerable among us, and acknowledging their existence is literally the least that we can and should do.