Why are you restricting choice based on junk science? People are NOT "biologically male" or "biologically female" at birth or throughout their lives. They PRESENT as male or female or something neither at birth, and when they're grown they can present as whatever they choose. You want ACCURATE and HONEST information about people, right? Then allow them the option to state their truth, with whatever gender they are outside of the binary, or allow them to state, accurately and truthfully, what gender they're living as. Anything less is not only dishonesty, but forcing a delusion on the world.
