Please do NOT tie my medical data to my state records! As a cisgendered person, there is no reason to tie my identification to medical knowledge about me. This would effectively require genetic testing to appropriately assign sex to identification, and a good number of sexes are being unrecognized by the state.

It's not the state's business what organs are between my legs, it's only my doctors. The state needs to know who I am and if I've paid my taxes, cool, but you do not need to know if my outward appearance matches a limited definition unbacked by science.

For what purpose does an officer of the state NEED to know that I have a vagina or not? Stop this invasion of privacy!
