The proposed change will not reduce harm to women or men in any setting. What it will do is harm the following types of people:

- Transgender individuals who must transition to alleviate life-altering gender dysphoria.
- Non-binary individuals who experience gender dysphoria when presenting or identifying as their assigned sex at birth.
- Intersex individuals who do not clearly appear to be one gender or another.
- Intersex individuals whose sex organs do not clearly align with the 'M' or 'F' sex assigned at birth designation.
- Cisgender individuals who, for any reason, do not physically resemble what is considered to be traditionally 'M' or 'F'.

Taking action to single out these members of society is discrimination, and goes against the foundations of liberty and the pursuit of happiness our nation was founded on.
