

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 02/20/2025 02:53 PMComments Received :

There is absolutely no reason to include sex assigned at birth on a passport. It is no one's business nor helpful in any situation to publicly display what genitalia someone was born with. It's perverse and counterproductive. Imagine a trans man who looks male, full facial hair, etc., showing a passport while traveling that says he is "female". What would purpose would that serve? Nothing positive or helpful. It would only serve to harm that trans man, potentially putting his life in danger.