I find these changes based upon the executive order have no functional benefit to the US Passport process and overall make the freedom of identification and travel more difficult for the average American citizen. Overlooking the poor science beyond the executive order, as biological sex at conception is female for everyone, this confounds biological sex assigned at birth with how the citizen chooses to identify. Furthermore, this data irrelevant for citizenship identification, as you're an American citizen regardless of sex or gender. I do not support these unnecessary changes, and see this effort as a waste of government resources.
