I'm very concerned about the nature of policy changes related to passports and specifically gender markers on passports and any requirement that transgender people must use the marker that matches their birth gender. It's demoralizing and dangerous. What's particularly troubling is any problems this may cause for transgender people trying to come and go from the U.S. We have a right to live in the places we call home and a right to leave them when it has become too dangerous, and it rapidly is. Do not comply with fascism, neutrality on these issues is compliance.
