I oppose this change because choosing to call oneself by a new name isn't harmful to others or our country. But this bill will be harmful to American communities.

The amount of marriage-related name changes that happen annually will be a financial burden to the government and the slowed access to legal documentation for travel will cause economic strife to American communities that depend on tourism.

This is not a necessary change and it is a cost burden to the American Government and therefore American people that is inexcusable in this time of financial crisis.
