Though I am powerless to do much but scream into the void, I will do what I can. The recent executive order demanding biological sex be present on passports is as dehumanizing as it is unscientific. Sex is not a strict binary. Intersex people exist, and this policy would leave them entirely out in the cold. To say nothing of the fact that forcing someone whose gender identity differs from the sex they were born as to comply with this is cruel. This change will help nobody. It will not improve anybody's well-being or safety. It will merely embolden hateful individuals to feel justified in their hatred. Law should be used as a shield, not a bludgeon. This policy falls firmly in the latter camp.
