This is clearly driven by animus alone.

This rule change would upend decades of settled passport policy, forcing trans Americans to bear passports which inaccurately display pre-transition sex against their will and often in violation of their state ID and birth certificate, creating a mismatch where none existed and subjecting them to harassment, humiliation, and danger every time they cross a border.

This adds problems that did not previously exist, serves no public interest, and violates the tenth amendment rights of the states.
