Allowing people to self identify or for any organization to recognize their pre or post transition hurts no one. Not you, your children, women, men or anyone else for that matter. The government as a whole seems to enjoy turning a blind eye to things that happen or are happening that could be stopped but they would rather just keep it moving and get money so why do do the same with this? If you encounter someone who identifies in a way you don't like just ignore like you do with all the other problems.
