When applying for a passport, names changes, data correction - transgender people should be able to use the 'x' gender marker. It has not made our country less safe, it hasn't hurt cisgender people, it is just a way for people to identify themselves. Removing that possibility is simply a way to humiliate our fellow Americans. Imagine the delay when a woman who was assigned male gender at birth presents with a passport that identifies her incorrectly as a man, when she presents as a woman. That will only cause delay and confusion at border checkpoints.
