The erasure and violent hate towards transgender people from our own government is despicable. The government is meant to protect our rights, not strip them. The new law that does not allow transgender people to have their true gender on their passport is not only humiliating, it creates difficulty for transgender people to travel freely. When our passport doesn't match our license or our birth certificate it creates incredible difficulty. Our documents need to match and they need to be accurate. This is just one of many human rights violations being committed against transgender people right now.
