It baffles the mind that you can waste time trying to define me out of existence and deny me a passport renewal, turning me into a refugee who is unable to return to the US. Why would you care, why is it anyone's business what reproductive organs I have? Why in the world are you regulating perceived sex on passports? Reproductive capacity is the least important thing about us and should never be turned into a regulatory concern. Take your laws off my passport, off my body, and off my life.
