I'd like to offer insight as a woman who was born female and has never thought I was anything otherwise. I do not feel protected by any of the proposed changes to US legislation, and in fact only imagine moving forward will lead to more scrutiny and doubt of my own identity. Please allow people the freedom to express their gender the way they choose. Women of today do not abide by the rules of those from a century ago, and the process of applying for a passport does not need to be so antiquated.
