To remove the X marker is unethical, it denies science, biology, history and culture. It denies the existence of nonbinary, transgender and Intersex individuals.

The removal of gender/sex markers and forcing strict boxes leads to inaccurate information and allows for discrimination. It perpetuates a genocide, which is unethical, and immoral, against people with gender incongruence.

To keep the X marker, is to keep accurate information, prevent discrimination, and to allow for correctly identifying individuals.

Removal of the X marker strips people of their rights to self identify, bodily autonomy, self expression and free speech. Denial and removal of said rights are unconstitutional.
