

Author Full Name : Anonymous

Received Date : 02/21/2025 09:19 AM

Comments Received :

This rule goes against the current understanding of our culture, people deserve the ability to progress and change themselves for the better, letting a opinion of a singular person diminish and try to eradicate a group of people is immoral, people should be allowed to achieve their true selves and if that requires the to change their body to more aligned with their mind, then just let them do it, it should be their choice, not another's to deny them their identity.