There are more than two sexes, and there are more than two genders. Anyone who's taken high school biology (unless you went to a fundamentalist Christian school) should know this.

Not allowing people to change their name or their sex marker is essentially trapping them in this country. This not only affects transgender and nonbinary people, but also married women or anyone else who wants to change their name for whatever reason. This goes against the 14th Amendment, which your department may not recognize, but I and the vast majority of the American public do.

Thank you.
