I understand the current administration doesn't care about the morality or ramifications of their current and future actions while in power. However, this goes far beyond that and asks a damning question: How are we gonna act like a substantial part of our society doesn't exist? Do we just refuse to acknowledge them and their forms of expression? Regardless of whether you believe gender identity is a form of expression or a sin, this is an act of erasure to a population that cannot be ignored. It will be noticed, and it will be criticized even beyond the Trump administration.
