

Author Full Name : The Voice of cautionReceived Date : 02/21/2025 05:38 PMComments Received :

The efforts to silence, demonize and block an individual person from having their passport reflect not only their true sex by psychological wiring, or by surgical correction, is a complete violation of human rights. By both not allowing transgender individuals to have their reborn sex on their passport after all requirements have been met, and reversing the sex of passports once returned to the original birth certificates sex, is an effort of not only censoring government and public knowledge of transgender existence but is also a direct attack to the transgender community. Previously in many of the 50 states transgender people would need proof of diagnosed Gender Dysphoria, proof of hormonal and social therapies, and a confirmed successful surgical genital change, in order to receive the "F" or an "M" marker on their passport.

In logical standing this EO effects a transgender's person's mental state by creating a narrative that tells them and others that their existence is "not valid"

The Trump administration and Republican party has gone to great lengths to demonize transgender people, much like how gay people were demonized in the 80s and 90s, and black people were demonized in all of American history.

Because of transgender people make up such a small percentage of the US population they have been subject to constant criticism from redwing leading advocates and parties. Some official members of the government such as Florida gov. Ron DeSantis claiming that "All transgender people should be erased from the planet" the hate, is a boogeyman.

The Trump administration wants to "return America to a Christian nation" which doesn't make sense, but if that's the direction they wish to go, then fine. Then do by the word of god and hear the public's pleas.

God's most important rule, just below worship of him and his son and messenger, Jesus Christ, was to love thy neighbor. This rule means to respect someone regardless of differences.

And in a societal front, hear this, if something an individual does to their own lives does not directly cause physical or emotional violence to anyone with intent, then why should it be censored, erased, purged, persecuted, and demonized?

Progression and empathy is the sin of the Trump Admin. That's what they said, not me. If that's the case, then by allowing for something like this to happen, you open the doors for even worse things.

Everything in history is a domino effect, 4D chess played by monsters sitting atop their ivory towers. Stand this domino back up.

So? In history, it has never been good to side with the one oppressing and attempting to expel an entire community. Why does it matter? What does this order do to help society? Think like empathetic people and see that this does nothing but hurt people on a personal level with no economic, societal, or judiciary benefit. All it does is become a small petty attack on a small community, one petty attack that opens the doors for something much worse. And already has.

The Trump admin ordered all government websites to remove anything based on transgender people. Sounds like book burning.

What side of history will you be on?