Passport holders should be able to use the gender of their choosing in line with other documents; please keep in mind that scientifically there are more than two sexes with the incontrovertible existence of intersex individuals completely defying this political stance. Forcing an individual who is trans and potentially appearing a different gender than the sex listed on their passport to identify themselves as trans is not only intrusive but may be dangerous for that individual depending on the individual and/or culture they are dealing with abroad or in the US. Please keep protocol consistent with science and compassion. ~Tova Fuller MS MD PhD
