

Author Full Name : Tiffany

Received Date : 02/21/2025 07:05 PM

Comments Received :

Suspending the moral outrage of targeting a small demographic with reforms designed to humiliate and disenfranchise them: is it worth it to create gender investigations if there's a hard line between men and women? If the premise is that gender has no spectrum and no fungibility wouldn't the act of validating a gender be a huge waste of time and money? Are we cool with deleting an entire subcategory of citizens born without a typical biological sex?