Hi, I don't agree with a rollback of rights to change gender on paperwork and I certainly (as an XX chromosomed person) don't need protecting from anybody else's gender identity. Declaring that there can only be two sexes is not even scientific. That's like declaring pi is equal to three or something. Trans, non binary and intersex people are legitimate and should be permitted to conform their identifications with their gender identity. I am making this same comment on all three of the pending passport processes/rules up for review. Thank you.
