Any individual applying for a passport should be free to apply with their correct sex. This should not be the same as biological sex or sex assigned at birth, since for some individuals it would be deemed inaccurate. A lot of trans folks who've transitioned no longer biologically resemble the sex they were assigned at birth making the current proposal to require sex assigned at birth to be irrelevant. Everyone should be able to apply for a passport with their correct sex and that should not be determined by what you were born as. Not only that, but some people are born intersex and do not fit neatly into M or F. Excluding intersex people from applying for a passport is discrimination. The changes that are being made to passport applications is a direct violation of the injunction put on by the U.S. District Court for the District of Colorado in the Zzyym v. Blinken case.
