

Author Full Name : Anonymous

Received Date : 02/21/2025 11:36 PM

Comments Received :

Requiring biological sex at birth on all passports regardless of an individual's current gender presentation only has the potential to cause confusion and harassment, both at home and abroad. It serves no useful purpose. The primary markers of identity are name, social security number, address, etc - not what genitals you have.

Besides, sorting through to change passports for so many people is going to cost time and money that could be better spent elsewhere.