Updating forms to request the irrelevant "sex assigned at birth" is a waste of taxpayer funds and a hindrance to American citizens both transgender, intersex, and victims of clerical errors. It puts Americans at risk in other countries (I was personally interrogated by a border agent while entering Ukraine as a tourist in 2014 because my name did not "match" my gender marker) and lowers America to the level of dictatorships where citizens cannot update their gender marker to align their current appearance. If passport photos must be current within 6 months, only the applicant's current gender within 6 months should be relevant.
