

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 02/22/2025 08:39 PMComments Received :

Concerned citizen here. I have many friends and family who are trans who, in recent years, have enjoyed at least some degree of greater freedom in getting the opportunity to finally express themselves for who they are inside instead of what society asks of them. Unfortunately, modifications like these to things like passports and the like strip them of that freedom, and for no discernable reason. Frankly, it just seems a bit silly. To usurp a freedom once enjoyed by many for reasons that, to me, boil down to bigotry and hatred, all just seems a bit silly. I'm hoping for a reconsideration of this, and all of the other entries related to this whole identity thing.

Plus, and the big one for me, is that none of these entries seem to include any protections or even measures for intersex peoples, who scientifically do exist. Previous (or, i suppose current?) gender-related measures included them handily, but it seems like nobody in charge of these modifications have thought about them.