There are biologically more than two sexes, as intersex people (from birth) exist that have variations on sex chromosomes that don't fall within the XX and XY genotypes. This change will also unfairly affect transgender individuals, who are harming no one by wanting their passports to accurately reflect their gender/presentation. Additionally, this change would go against the ruling already in place under Zzyym vs. Blinken. There is no tangible benefit to the Department of State, individual states, or the United States if this change were to go into effect, meaning this endeavor is using taxpayer/US citizen resources for a purposeless goal at best.
