

Author Full Name : R HendersonReceived Date : 02/23/2025 08:32 PMComments Received :

Requiring someone's sex-assigned-at-birth instead of the accurate information that reflects their life and person NOW is, frankly, dumb. We don't require people who have changed their name due to marriage to register with their name assigned at birth for their passport. No; we require them to have their passport reflect who they are NOW so that the border agents can review accurate information as it stands today. Similarly, features that can change such as hair color and height also are not required to match whatever was true for someone at their birth. This should remain the case for all information on a passport.