

Author Full Name : Christopher BReceived Date : 02/23/2025 11:41 PMComments Received :

Allowing gender markings changes does not hurt or remove anyone else rights and only allows everyone to travel unburdened. This change has put undue burden on the LGBTQ community and has restricted travel for them. Transgender people are a protected class per The Supreme Court in 2020 and Trump's EO are not laws and a facing numerous lawsuits of civil rights violation. Inconsistencies between state-issued ID and your passports will also caused legal issues. This could cause unjustified detainment and more discrimination for a "false ID" even if entirely legal and valid. Transgender and nonbinary travelers already face increased scrutiny at airports and borders, if their IDs don't match their outward appearance. This has already caused many instances of aggressive and completely inappropriate searches and missed flights.