i do not think you need to review and make changes every single year to forms where you accumulate information on these same subjects. i think using the same forms allows you to contrast years with one another. i also think it is unnecessary out of control spending with the massive changes you express in your prposal. i think taxpayers need to have this agency control expenses instead of going on a tear each year with new developments. i do not support this proposal. no extra tax dollars should be required. jean publiee jeanpublic1@yahoocom
