I believe this is a bigoted and unnecessary infringement of people's freedoms generally, and specifically the rights to self-determination and expression of identify. This is clearly a restrictive, conservative political attack on people viewed as 'dangerous' or 'others' compared to the status quo, that is both obviously hateful, and weirdly out of line with the principles of small government that conservative-leaning people in this country claim to desire and support. Stop trying to reach into people's lives and tell them who they must be.
