

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 02/25/2025 03:39 PMComments Received :

Please learn actual biology. Neither sex nor gender is binary. Genetically, that means that not everyone has a simple XX or XY. And whatever the genetic makeup, the expression of the genes varies across the population. A simple example of variations in gene expression is the case of identical twins who have exactly the same genetic makeup, but aren't the same. Many of us have known identical twins who could easily be distinguished.

DNA is not a mechanical blueprint; gene expression can change many aspects of a person's biology over the whole course of one's life.

Please consult scientific experts. Please don't make policy based on ignorance, or worse still, hate.

Everyone deserves being treated with dignity and respect. All citizens deserve fair treatment by the government that collects our taxes.

Thank you.