I am a woman, born biologically as a woman and a voting US citizen by birth. I strongly reject to using my name to justify the blatant government over-reach of imposing a minority's "ideology" on the majority of the rest of us.

Forcing transgender individuals to register as their sex assigned at birth shows a complete lack of knowledge . It creates unnecessary stress, money and complications to US citizens applying for passports, the department reviewing passport application and TSA or other government agencies trying to use passport as identification.

Why waste the time of a TSA agent or an HR professional attempting to use someone's passport as identification? Imagine them looking at Hunter Schafer, seeing "m" under sex and wasting everyone's time and money having to investigate this when the person is so clearly female.

How dare you use the words "defending women" when this is a clear attempt to strip god-given rights away from US citizens of all sexes. This will not make anyone safer or more secure, least of all women.
