

Author Full Name : Anonymous

Received Date : 02/25/2025 06:32 PM

Comments Received :

It is important to maintain inclusivity in the passport application process, and that means allowing U.S. citizens to select the gender and name by which they identify, even if it does not match the gender or name assigned at birth. Restricting people this way is an intrusion on personal liberty and a violation of one's constitutional right to life, liberty, the pursuit of happiness, and privacy.