Hello, I am a citizen residing in Chicago, IL. The executive order “protecting women from gender ideology” has a widespread affect on not just transgender people, but also intersex people (people born with ambiguous genitalia).

The way things are with the executive order, it puts many people in danger. My husband can no longer travel abroad because the sex listed on his passport does not match the sex on his drivers license and birth certificate. He is at higher risk of detainment at borders because his passport is incongruent with his secondary sex characteristics (the visible markers people see to determine one’s sex). He is not the only one. We deserve to travel safely and without harm done to us at borders caused by bureaucracy.
