I fundamentally disagree with this change, as it attempts to erase the existence of intersex, trans, nonbinary, and gender-nonconforming individuals. Aside from the fact that denying the existence of these individuals is scientifically inaccurate, replacing "gender" with "sex" on the form is invasive and unnecessary. One's sex is only related to reproductive organs and thus using this as the basis of identification means people of all gender expressions may be subject to invasive investigations by authorities making false assumptions — including the cisgendered women this policy states it is attempting to protect. Enacting this change will create unnecessary harm while wasting valuable taxpayer money.
