

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 02/26/2025 05:06 PMComments Received :

People should be allowed to change their gender markers on their passports. It has no impact on any other person other than the person to whom the passport belongs. As an American citizen, I had no problem when people were able to do this before. I have seen many people since the end of January be denied the passport gender marker that they were supposed to get after providing the correct documentation to do so, and that is not okay.