I am writing in support of policies that ensure the U.S. passport name change and data correction process remains accessible, particularly for transgender, intersex and nonbinary individuals. Having identification that accurately reflects a person's name and gender is essential for travel, employment, and personal safety.

I urge the Department of State to:

1. Ensure a streamlined and accessible process for updating names and gender markers without unnecessary delays or financial barriers.
2. Maintain and expand self-attestation policies for gender markers, eliminating requirements for medical or legal documentation that can be costly and difficult to obtain.
3. Protect and simplify the name change process for trans and nonbinary individuals by reducing bureaucratic obstacles that disproportionately impact marginalized communities.

Ensuring that all individuals can obtain passports that align with their identity is a matter of dignity, privacy, and equal access. I appreciate the Department of State's efforts to create a more inclusive process and encourage continued progress toward fair and accessible identification policies for all.

Thank you for your time and consideration.
