

Author Full Name : Axel RobinsonReceived Date : 02/26/2025 07:12 PMComments Received :

I am deeply saddened to see the removal of the 'X' sex designation from US passports. Not only does this harm those who are genderqueer or intersex, barring from accurately representing themselves in legal situations, but also those from countries who allow 'X' gender markers. I have met friends who have the gender marker when traveling outside the US, and while we had made plans to meet again in the US, multiple of them have expressed concerns over their passports being labeled invalid.