

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 02/27/2025 03:06 PMComments Received :

Replacing the term gender with sex does nothing but alienate people who do not identify with as male or female. I know many people who do not identify as either and this would make renewing their passports distressing for them. It also ignores the existence of intersex people who are not biologically male or female at birth. There are many such people that live in this country who can't accurately answer this form if only male and female sex exist as options. Transgender people who don't present as their sex assigned at birth will be hurt by this. Hunter Schafer a popular actress recently had her passport marker changed to represent her sex at birth when she looks nothing like what society would define as male.