

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 02/27/2025 08:34 PMComments Received :

Restricting gender markers to assigned gender at birth endangers trans people such as myself. It means that our passport will have information that may not match other forms of identification, such as drivers license or birth certificate. This could create issues when entering other countries. Furthermore, it immediately outs us as trans which could put us in legal danger in some countries around the world.