

Author Full Name : Anthony Liddle

Received Date : 02/28/2025 09:27 PM

Comments Received :

The US government's role is to protect its citizens. By refusing to change the gender marker on a US citizen's passport, this opens them up to potential threats of violence or jail time if there are discrepancies in documentation when overseas. The US government has a constitutional duty to ensure the safety of US nationals traveling overseas, and meddling with official government documentation does the opposite of this.