

Author Full Name : Katherine Tatar

Received Date : 03/02/2025 08:10 PM

Comments Received :

Correcting a passport for our transgender neighbors and colleagues should not be made more difficult. Gender markers that do not match their identity and presentation will make lines slower and delay all travelers. Transgender people existing does not threaten the rest of us. Making the process more onerous will also make things harder for recently married women who want to take a new last name.